STRENGTH IN NUMBERS INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors The Children's Law Center, Inc. Washington, DC

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Children's Law Center, Inc. (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2021, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Children's Law Center, Inc. as of December 31, 2021, and the changes in its net assets, its functional expenses, and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of Children's Law Center, Inc. and to meet our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

As discussed in Note 3 to the financial statements, Children's Law Center, Inc. adopted Accounting Standards Update 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606) during the year ended December 31, 2021. Our opinion is not modified with respect to this matter.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Children's Law Center, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements, including omissions, are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Children's Law Center, Inc.'s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Children's Law Center, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

1. Organization

The Children's Law Center, Inc. (CLC) is a not-for-profit organization formed under the laws of the District of Columbia (DC) and is tax exempt under IRS Code Section 501(c)(3). Children's Law Center fights so every child in DC can grow up with a loving family, good health and a quality education. Judges, pediatricians and families turn to CLC to advocate for children who are abused or neglected, who aren't learning in school, or who have health problems that can't be solved by medicine alone. Councilmembers, DC government officials and advocates turn to CLC when the District's laws and policies are failing children and need to be improved. With almost 100 staff and hundreds of pro bono lawyers, CLC provides individual assistance to 1 out of every 9 children in DC's poorest neighborhoods – more than 5,000 children and families each year, and CLC's systemic advocacy has an impact on children and families across the District.

2. Program Activities

CLC's program services include the following:

- Guardian Ad Litem CLC's attorneys are appointed by judges within the DC Superior Court to advocate for a child's best interests while they are in the abuse and neglect system. CLC does not stop there; CLC also partners with judges, social workers, schools, and medical professionals to fight for the education and health care children in foster care need to thrive.
- Systemic Advocacy CLC's policy advocacy is grounded in the experience CLC has gained helping tens of thousands of District children since its founding in 1996. CLC offers city-wide solutions to the Mayor, District agencies and the DC Council to better serve low-income children. CLC works to improve laws, policies and practice and also secure media coverage about the District's successes and failures in meeting children's needs. Whether it is advocating for additional support during the COVID-19 pandemic, historic special education reforms, pressing agencies to better prepare older youth who age out of foster care or improving behavioral health services within DC schools CLC's policy advocacy delivers real results that have improved hundreds of thousands of children's lives.
- Healthy Together Children's Law Center fights so that all children in DC can grow up healthy. Through the Healthy Together program, CLC partners with Children's National, Mary's Center and Unity Health Care to put lawyers sideby-side with pediatricians to fix the root causes of a child's health problem. CLC currently works in six health clinics across the District. Because health and education are inextricably linked, CLC also ensures children can start school ready to learn by helping infants and toddlers with developmental delays get support early. When children reach school age, CLC helps families advocate so DC's schools provide the special education support their children need and find alternatives to unnecessary suspensions and expulsions.

• Pro Bono - Although Children's Law Center is one of the largest civil legal services providers in DC, many more children come to CLC than its staff attorneys can represent. CLC's pro bono team places children, parents and caregivers in need of legal services with more than 500 pro bono attorneys every year. Pro bono lawyers find success with CLC cases regardless of experience because of comprehensive intakes and a commitment to high-quality training and mentoring. The pro bono team also includes a team of lawyers who help children whose caregivers are disputing custody, shielding them from conflict and helping families agree on a plan to support their children's well-being. And, when parents can no longer safely care for their children, CLC helps grandparents and other caring adults who step up to give them a home, whether through adoption, custody or guardianship.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

CLC's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, which requires CLC to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to the following net asset classifications:

Net assets without donor restrictions: Net assets that are not subject to donorimposed restrictions and may be expended for any purpose in performing the primary objectives of the CLC. CLC's board may designate assets without restrictions for specific operational purposes from time to time.

Net assets with donor restrictions: Net assets subject to stipulations imposed by donors and grantors. Some donor restrictions are temporary in nature; those restrictions will be met by actions of the CLC or by the passage of time.

Donor restricted contributions are reported as increases in net assets with donor restrictions. When a restriction expires, net assets are reclassified from net assets with donor restrictions to net assets without donor restrictions in the statement of activities.

Measure of Operations

The statement of activities reports all changes in net assets, including changes in net assets from operating and non-operating activities. Operating activities consist of those items attributable to the CLC's ongoing services. Non-operating activities are limited to resources that generate return from investments and other activities considered to be of a more unusual or nonrecurring nature.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, CLC considers all money market accounts not held for long-term investment purposes and investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. CLC maintains cash and cash equivalents in bank deposit accounts which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. CLC has not experienced any losses in such accounts. CLC believes it is not exposed to any significant financial risk on the cash and cash equivalents.

Certificates of Deposit

Certificates of deposit with a maturity of three months or less are included in cash and cash equivalents in the accompanying financial statements. Certificates of deposit with a maturity greater than three months are classified with current investments. The certificates of deposit are recorded at fair value which includes accumulated earnings.

Investments

Valuation

Investments purchased are recorded at cost. Thereafter, investments are reported at their fair market value in the statement of financial position.

Donated securities are recorded at fair value on the date of donation. Thereafter, investments are reported at their fair market value in the statement of financial position. Donated securities are sold upon receipt from the donor.

Composition

Investments include mutual funds and exchange traded funds. Money market funds managed and held in the investment portfolio, for long-term investment purposes, are also classified as investments since such amounts are not to be used for general operating purposes.

Net investment income or loss is included in the statement of activities as increases or decreases in net assets without donor restriction unless the income or loss is restricted by donor or by local law. Interest and dividends are recorded as revenue when earned.

Receivables

Contributions Receivable

Contributions are recorded at the earlier of the date received or the date of receipt of a donor's unconditional promise or pledge. Conditional promises to give are not included as support until the conditions are substantially met. Annually, management determines if an allowance for doubtful accounts is necessary based upon review of outstanding receivables, historical collection information and existing economic conditions. At December 31, 2021, no allowance for doubtful accounts was recorded. Accounts deemed uncollectible are charged off based on specific circumstances of the parties involved.

Accounts and Contracts Receivable

Accounts and contracts receivable are for reimbursement of costs incurred under federal awards and contract agreements. Billed amounts represent invoices that have been prepared and sent to the responsible parties. Accounts and contracts receivable are recorded at net realizable value, which approximates fair value. Management considers all amounts to be fully collectible. Accordingly, an allowance for doubtful accounts has not been established.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment purchased with a cost basis greater than $2,500 and a useful life of greater than one year are recorded at cost while contributed property and equipment are recorded at the fair value on the date of donation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets. CLC estimates five years for the useful lives of office furniture and telephone equipment and estimates three years for the useful lives of computer equipment and database software. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the lesser of the useful life or life of the lease. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred while improvements which increase the value or materially extend the life of the related asset are capitalized.

Revenue Recognition

Legal Advocacy

The legal advocacy services performed under a contract with a Medicaid managed care organization are earned on a per-case basis, with no stated required number of cases to be handled. CLC recognizes revenue as each case is completed and amounts due under the contract but not yet received are recorded in contracts receivable in the statement of financial position.

Guardian Ad Litem

The Guardian Ad Litem services performed in accordance with the fixed price contract with the DC Superior Court are earned ratably during the contract period, consisting of an initial contract year and four additional option years. The current contract expires September 30, 2022. Amounts due under the contract but not yet received are recorded in contracts receivable in the statement of financial position. As of December 31, 2021, the aggregate amount of the transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligation is $4,329,715.

Contributions and Grants

CLC receives grants and contributions from foundations, corporations, and individuals. Unconditional contributions and grants are recognized as revenue when pledged by the donor. Conditional contributions are recorded when conditions are met. Conditional contributions received prior to conditions being met are recorded in deferred revenue on the statement of financial position. Revenue pledged but not yet received by CLC is reported as contributions and grants receivable in the accompanying statement of financial position. CLC classifies grants and contributions for fellowships as its own income type. Annual event fees and sponsorships are recorded as revenue when the event occurs. Cash received related to the direct donor benefit portion of the special event is deferred revenue until the event occurs.

Donated Goods and Services

CLC records various types of in-kind contributions. Donated legal services which support program activities are recognized at fair value if the services received (a) create or enhance long-lived assets or (b) require specialized skills, are provided by individuals possessing those skills, and would typically need to be purchased if not provided by donation. Contributions of tangible assets are recognized at fair value when received.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The cost of providing the various programs and other activities has been summarized in the accompanying statement of activities and functional expenses. Costs which cannot be specifically identified with a particular function, and which benefit more than one functional category are allocated to the different functional areas based on direct salaries. Management believes this method accurately reflects the cost of administering CLC's programs.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Tax Status

CLC is exempt from Federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and the applicable income tax regulations of the District of Columbia. CLC is not a private foundation and is exempt from taxes on income other than unrelated business income.

CLC's income tax returns are subject to review and examination by federal and state taxing authorities. CLC is not aware of any activities that would jeopardize its tax-exempt status. Income tax returns for the years ended in 2020, 2019 and 2018, remain open to examination by the taxing jurisdictions.

Fair Value Measurements

CLC reports its fair value measures using a three-level hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to measure fair value. This hierarchy, established by generally accepted accounting principles, gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements).

The fair value hierarchy is as follows:

- Level 1: Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities that CLC has the ability to access.
- Level 2: Inputs to the valuation methodology include:
  - Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
  - Quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
  - Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
  - Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.

Fair Value Measurements (continued)

If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.

• Level 3: Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset's or liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value:

Investments in money market funds are valued at the net asset value (generally $1) of shares held by CLC at year-end reported in the listing of the applicable major exchanges. Such securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investments in certificates of deposit are valued by discounting the related cash flows based on current yields of similar instruments with comparable derivatives considering the credit worthiness of the issuer. Such securities are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investments in exchange traded funds (ETFs) are valued at the closing price reported in the active markets in which the common stocks and ETFs are traded. Such securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investments in mutual funds are valued at net asset value, reported daily in the active exchanges, of shares held by CLC at year-end. Such securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

The availability of observable market data is monitored to assess the appropriate classification of financial instruments within the fair value hierarchy. Changes in economic conditions or model-based valuation techniques may require the transfer of financial instruments from one fair value level to another. In such instances, the transfer is reported as of the end of the reporting period. For the year ended December 31, 2021, there were no significant transfers in or out of levels 1, 2 or 3.

New Accounting Pronouncement - Adopted

In May 2014, FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606). The ASU provides guidance for recognizing revenue under contractual arrangements. The overall objective is to recognize revenue as promised goods and services are transferred to customers and involves employing a five-step determination process.

Analysis of various provisions of this standard resulted in no significant changes in the manner CLC recognizes revenue, and therefore no changes to the previously issued audited financial statements were required on a retrospective basis. The presentation and disclosures of revenue have been enhanced in accordance with the standard.

New Accounting Pronouncements - Future Periods

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases, which requires a lessee to recognize a right-of-use ("ROU") assets and lease liability on the balance sheet for most lease contracts (which include those leases that are currently classified as operating leases under the current accounting standard). Additional disclosures are required to meet the objective of enabling users of financial statements to assess the amount, timing, and uncertainty of cash flows arising from lease contracts. The standard will be effective for CLC beginning January 1, 2022. CLC is currently evaluating the impact of the new standard on the financial statements.
