INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors
Children's Law Center, Inc.
Washington, DC

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Children's Law Center, Inc. (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statements of financial position as of December 31, 2025 and 2024 and the related statements of activities, functional expenses, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Children's Law Center, Inc. as of December 31, 2025 and 2024, and the changes in its net assets, its functional expenses, and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of Children's Law Center, Inc. and to meet our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Children's Law Center, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements, including omissions, are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Children's Law Center, Inc.'s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Children's Law Center, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

CHILDREN’S LAW CENTER, INC.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
Years Ended December 31, 2025 and 2024

1. Organization

Children's Law Center, Inc. (CLC) is a not-for-profit organization formed under the laws of the District of Columbia (DC) and is tax exempt under IRS Code Section 501(c)(3). Children’s Law Center believes every child should grow up with a strong foundation of family, health and education and live in a world free from poverty, trauma, racism and other forms of oppression. Our more than 100 staff together with DC children and families, community partners and pro bono attorneys use the law to solve children’s urgent problems today and improve the systems that will affect their lives tomorrow. Since our founding in 1996, we have reached more than 50,000 children and families directly and multiplied our impact by advocating for city-wide solutions that benefit hundreds of thousands more.

2. Program Activities

CLC’s program services include the following:

- Guardian Ad Litem – Children’s Law Center’s attorneys are appointed by judges within the DC Superior Court to represent approximately half the children involved with the DC Child and Family Services Agency – several hundred children in foster care and protective supervision each year. We make sure their perspectives and wishes are heard, and their best interests are prioritized. Our representation includes multi-disciplinary teams of attorneys, social workers, investigators and education attorneys who advocate for the support children need to heal from the traumas that brought them into the child welfare system and to leave the foster care system safe, healthy and learning.
- Systemic Advocacy – Our systemic advocacy is grounded in our experience working with more than 50,000 District children and families since our founding in 1996. We use this expertise to partner with the Mayor, District agencies, the DC Council, other advocates, parents and youth to find and implement city-wide solutions that better serve children’s needs. We work to change laws, policies and practice and appellate caselaw. We also secure media coverage to raise awareness about the District’s successes and failures in meeting children’s needs. Whether it is ensuring appellate caselaw provides concrete guidance on how to evaluate the harm of removal when determining whether to place a child in foster care, securing historic special education reforms, filing class action lawsuits to improve bus transportation for students with disabilities, pressing agencies to better prepare older youth who age out of foster care or improving behavioral health services within DC schools – our policy, impact litigation and appellate advocacy deliver real results that have improved hundreds of thousands of children’s lives.

2. Program Activities (continued)

- Healthy Together – Unsafe housing, inadequate education, exposure to violence, lack of good health care and other problems related to poverty, trauma and racism can harm children’s physical and behavioral health. Through our Healthy Together program, Children’s Law Center partners with pediatricians throughout eight community health centers and clinics to find and fix the root causes of a child’s health problem such as advocating for landlords to repair water damage that led to mold which exacerbates a child’s asthma. And because health and education are inextricably linked, Children’s Law Center also ensures children can start school ready to learn by helping infants and toddlers with developmental delays get support early. When children reach school age, Children’s Law Center works with parents and schools to get a child’s education back on track – from ensuring testing for learning disabilities at an early age to making sure students with disabilities or behavioral health issues have an appropriate plan that meets their learning needs.
- Pro Bono - Although Children’s Law Center is one of the largest nonprofit legal providers in DC, many more children come to us than we can help. Our pro bono team places children, parents and caregivers in need of legal services with 500 pro bono attorneys every year from the area’s top law firms, in-house legal departments and government agencies to help fill the gap. Regardless of their prior experience or what type of case they take, pro bono lawyers find success helping DC children because of our comprehensive intakes and our commitment to high-quality training and mentoring. Our in-house team of lawyers also helps children whose caregivers are disputing custody, shielding them from conflict and helping families agree on a plan to support their children's well-being. And, when parents can no longer safely care for their children, CLC helps grandparents and other caring adults who step up to give them a home, whether through adoption, custody or guardianship.
- Families Together – Children do best when their parents have the time and resources to guide them through life’s inevitable challenges. But burdens created by poverty often drain parents’ capacity to provide that support. Through Families Together, we help expectant and new parents ensure they can give their child a strong start and work with parents and caregivers who may be at risk of their child being removed from their home.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

CLC's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, which requires CLC to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to the following net asset classifications:

Net assets without donor restrictions: Net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed restrictions and may be expended for any purpose in performing the primary objectives of the CLC. CLC's board may designate assets without restrictions for specific operational purposes from time to time.

Net assets with donor restrictions: Net assets subject to stipulations imposed by donors and grantors. Some donor restrictions are temporary in nature; those restrictions will be met by actions of the CLC or by the passage of time.

Donor restricted contributions are reported as increases in net assets with donor restrictions. When a restriction expires, net assets are reclassified from net assets with donor restrictions to net assets without donor restrictions in the statement of activities.

Measure of Operations

The statement of activities reports all changes in net assets, including changes in net assets from operating and non-operating activities. Operating activities consist of those items attributable to the CLC's ongoing services. Non-operating activities are limited to resources that generate returns from investments and other activities considered to be of a more unusual or nonrecurring nature.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, CLC considers all money market accounts not held for long-term investment purposes and investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. CLC maintains cash and cash equivalents in bank deposit accounts which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. CLC has not experienced any losses in such accounts. CLC believes it is not exposed to any significant financial risk on the cash and cash equivalents.

Certificates of Deposit

Certificates of deposit with a maturity of three months or less are included in cash and cash equivalents in the accompanying financial statements. Certificates of deposit with a maturity greater than three months are classified with current investments. The certificates of deposit are recorded at fair value which includes accumulated earnings.

Investments

Valuation

Investments purchased are recorded at cost. Thereafter, investments are reported at their fair value in the statement of financial position.

Donated securities are recorded at fair value on the date of donation. Thereafter, investments are reported at their fair value in the statement of financial position. Donated securities are sold upon receipt from the donor.

Composition

Investments include mutual funds and exchange traded funds. Money market funds managed and held in the investment portfolio, for long-term investment purposes, are also classified as investments since such amounts are not to be used for general operating purposes. Money market funds managed and held in the investment portfolio, for short-term expenses, are also classified as investments.

Net investment income or loss is included in the statement of activities as increases or decreases in net assets without donor restriction unless the income or loss is restricted by donor or by local law. Interest and dividends are recorded as revenue when earned.

Receivables

Contributions Receivable

Contributions are recorded at the earlier of the date received or the date of receipt of a donor's unconditional promise or pledge. Conditional promises to give are not included as support until the conditions are substantially met. Management evaluates contributions receivable for expected credit losses based on historical collection experience, current economic conditions, and other relevant factors. At December 31, 2025 and 2024, management determined that no allowance for credit losses was necessary. Accounts deemed uncollectible are charged off based on specific circumstances and underlying facts.

Accounts and Contracts Receivable

Accounts and contracts receivable are for reimbursement of costs incurred under federal awards and contract agreements. Billed amounts represent invoices that have been prepared and sent to the responsible parties. Accounts and contracts receivable are recorded at net realizable value, which approximates fair value. Management evaluates receivables for expected credit losses based on historical experience, current economic conditions, and other relevant factors. At December 31, 2025 and 2024, management determined that no allowance for credit losses was necessary. Accounts deemed uncollectible are charged off based on specific circumstances and underlying facts.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment purchased with a cost basis greater than $2,500 and a useful life of greater than one year are recorded at cost while contributed property and equipment are recorded at the fair value on the date of donation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets. CLC estimates five years for the useful lives of office furniture and telephone equipment and estimates three years for the useful lives of computer equipment and database software. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the lesser of the useful life or life of the lease. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred while improvements which increase the value or materially extend the life of the related asset are capitalized.

Leases

At lease inception, CLC determines whether an arrangement is or contains a lease. Operating leases are included in operating lease right-of-use ("ROU") assets, current operating lease liabilities, and noncurrent operating lease liabilities in the financial statements. ROU assets represent CLC's right to use leased assets over the term of the lease. Lease liabilities represent CLC's contractual obligation to make lease payments over the lease term.

For operating leases, ROU assets and lease liabilities are recognized at the commencement date. The lease liability is measured as the present value of the lease payments over the lease term. CLC uses the rate implicit in the lease if it is determinable. When the rate implicit in the lease is not determinable, CLC uses a risk-free borrowing rate at the commencement date of the lease to determine the present value of the lease payments. Operating ROU assets are calculated as the present value of the remaining lease payments plus unamortized initial direct costs plus any prepayments less any unamortized lease incentives received. Lease terms may include renewal or extension options to the extent they are reasonably certain to be exercised. The assessment of whether renewal or extension options are reasonably certain to be exercised is made at lease commencement. Factors considered in determining whether an option is reasonably certain of exercise include, but are not limited to, the value of any leasehold improvements, the value of renewal rates compared to market rates, and the presence of factors that would cause a significant economic penalty to CLC if the option were not exercised. Lease expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term. CLC has elected not to recognize an ROU asset and obligation for leases with an initial term of twelve months or less.

Revenue Recognition

Legal Advocacy

The legal advocacy services performed under a contract with a Medicaid managed care organization are earned on a per-case basis, with no stated required number of cases to be handled. CLC recognizes revenue as each case is completed and amounts due under the contract but not yet received are recorded in contracts receivable in the statement of financial position.

Guardian Ad Litem

CLC provides Guardian Ad Litem services under a fixed-price contract with the District of Columbia Superior Court. Revenue is recognized ratably over the applicable contract period as the services are provided. Amounts earned but not yet received are reported as contracts receivable in the statement of financial position.

In November 2023, CLC entered into a one-year contract that initially expired on November 14, 2024 and included options for annual renewals. In November 2024, CLC exercised the first renewal option. The contract was subsequently extended through December 31, 2025 and, on December 31, 2025, was further extended through January 31, 2026.

As of December 31, 2025 and 2024, the aggregate transaction price allocated to the remaining performance obligations was $541,667 and $5,687,500, respectively. CLC expects to recognize these amounts as revenue over the applicable remaining contract periods.

Contributions and Grants

CLC receives grants and contributions from foundations, corporations, and individuals. Unconditional contributions and grants are recognized as revenue when pledged by the donor. Conditional contributions are recorded when conditions are met. Conditional contributions received prior to conditions being met are recorded in deferred revenue on the statement of financial position. Revenue pledged but not yet received by CLC is reported as contributions and grants receivable in the accompanying statement of financial position. Annual event fees and sponsorships are recorded as revenue when the event occurs. Cash received related to the direct donor benefit portion of the special event is deferred revenue until the event occurs.

Donated Goods and Services

CLC records various types of in-kind contributions. Donated legal services which support program activities are recognized at fair value if the services received (a) create or enhance long-lived assets or (b) require specialized skills, are provided by individuals possessing those skills, and would typically need to be purchased if not provided by donation. Contributions of tangible assets are recognized at fair value when received.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The cost of providing the various programs and other activities has been summarized in the accompanying statement of activities and functional expenses. Costs which cannot be specifically identified with a particular function, and which benefit more than one functional category are allocated to the different functional areas based on direct salaries. Management believes this method accurately reflects the cost of administering CLC's programs.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Tax Status

CLC is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and the applicable income tax regulations of the District of Columbia. CLC is not a private foundation and is exempt from taxes on income other than unrelated business income.

CLC's income tax returns are subject to review and examination by federal and state taxing authorities. CLC is not aware of any activities that would jeopardize its tax-exempt status. Income tax returns for the years ended in 2024, 2023 and 2022 remain open to examination by the taxing jurisdictions.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Fair Value Measurements

CLC reports its fair value measures using a three-level hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to measure fair value. This hierarchy, established by generally accepted accounting principles, gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements).

The fair value hierarchy is as follows:

- Level 1: Inputs to the valuation methodology are unadjusted quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities that CLC has the ability to access.
- Level 2: Inputs to the valuation methodology include:
 - Quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets;
 - Quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in inactive markets;
 - Inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability;
 - Inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.If the asset or liability has a specified (contractual) term, the Level 2 input must be observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.
- Level 3: Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement.

The asset's or liability's fair value measurement level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Valuation techniques used need to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets measured at fair value:

Investments in money market funds are valued at the net asset value (generally $1) of shares held by CLC at year-end reported in the listing of the applicable major exchanges. Such securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investments in certificates of deposit are valued by discounting the related cash flows based on current yields of similar instruments with comparable derivatives considering the credit worthiness of the issuer. Such securities are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investments in exchange traded funds (ETFs) are valued at the closing price reported in the active markets in which the common stocks and ETFs are traded. Such securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

Investments in mutual funds are valued at net asset value, reported daily in the active exchanges, of shares held by CLC at year-end. Such securities are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy.

The availability of observable market data is monitored to assess the appropriate classification of financial instruments within the fair value hierarchy. Changes in economic conditions or model-based valuation techniques may require the transfer of financial instruments from one fair value level to another. In such instances, the transfer is reported as of the end of the reporting period. For the years ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, there were no significant transfers in or out of levels 1, 2 or 3.

Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated subsequent events through July 24, 2026, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

On January 29, 2026, CLC executed a twelve-month extension of its contract with the District of Columbia Superior Court. The extension covers the period from February 1, 2026 through January 31, 2027. The contract supports CLC's Guardian Ad Litem program and represents a significant source of operating revenue.

No other subsequent events were identified that required recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

As part of its liquidity plan, excess cash is invested in equity securities, fixed income securities, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and short-term investments (cash and cash equivalents). Donated professional services are valued and are reported at the estimated fair value in the financial statements based on current rates for similar professional services.

10. Retirement Plan

CLC maintains a 401(k)-retirement plan which is available to all employees starting at date of hire. Under the terms of the plan, CLC makes a non-discretionary contribution of 3% of each employee's eligible salary. The employer contributions for the years ended December 31, 2025 and 2024 totaled $268,926 and $244,263, respectively, which are included in personnel costs on the statement of functional expenses.

11. Concentration of Risk

At December 31, 2025, the DC Superior Court contract represented 23% of the outstanding receivables balance. At December 31, 2024, the DC Superior Court contract represented 32% of the outstanding receivables balance. During the years ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, revenue from the DC Superior Court contract represented 33% and 36%, respectively, of CLC's total revenue and support. CLC believes it is not exposed to any significant financial risk due to DC's statutory requirement to provide legal services for the children of DC.

12. Commitments from the District of Columbia Superior Court

In 2023, CLC was awarded a fixed price contract with the DC Superior Court through November 14, 2024. That contract includes options for annual renewals for four one-year periods. In November 2024, CLC executed a contract for the first option year ending November 2025. In October 2025, CLC executed a one-and-a-half-month extension contract through December 31, 2025. On December 31, 2025, CLC executed a one-month extension contract through January 31, 2026.

13. Lease Commitments

CLC had an operating lease agreement with Communications Workers of America that was scheduled to expire on December 31, 2027. In November 2024, CLC entered into a lease termination agreement that changed the termination date to November 1, 2025. The termination resulted in the derecognition of an operating lease liability of $3,134,930 and the related right-of-use asset of $2,685,389, resulting in a gain on lease termination of $449,541 in 2024. Rental payments for the final six months of the modified lease term were abated. CLC ceased occupying the space in October 2025 and received the return of its rental deposit in November 2025.

In December 2024, CLC entered into a lease agreement with Capitol Crossing II LLC ("CC II") for office space in Washington, D.C. The lease has a 15-year term, with an option to extend the lease for an additional five years at prevailing market rates. Although the contractual rent commencement date is April 1, 2026, CLC obtained possession and control of the space in May 2025. Accordingly, May 2025 was determined to be the lease commencement date for accounting purposes. CLC began occupying the space in October 2025.

Annual base rent is $623,680 beginning on the contractual rent commencement date and increases by 2.5% annually. In addition to base rent, CLC is responsible for its proportionate share of building operating expenses and real estate taxes. The first 42 months of base rent are abated.

At the May 2025 lease commencement date, CLC recognized an operating lease liability of $6,110,811 and a corresponding right-of-use asset of $3,255,539. The difference between the initial lease liability and right-of-use asset primarily represents lease incentives provided by the landlord. The lease included a construction allowance of up to approximately $3.1 million for improvements to the leased space. During 2025, CLC recognized $2,831,377 of leasehold improvements funded through the landlord's construction allowance.

As of December 31, 2025, the weighted-average remaining operating lease term was 15 years and the weighted-average discount rate was 4.5%.

CLC had no related-party leases as of December 31, 2025 and 2024.

14. Supplemental Cash Flow Information

Cash paid for amounts included in the measurement of operating lease liabilities for the years ended December 31, 2025 and 2024 totaled $386,944 and $1,146,654, respectively.

During 2025, CLC recognized an operating lease liability of $6,110,811 and a corresponding right-of-use asset of $3,255,539 upon commencement of a new operating lease. The right-of-use asset was recognized net of applicable lease incentives.

CLC also recognized $2,831,377 of leasehold improvements funded through the landlord's construction allowance. These additions did not require the use of CLC's cash and, accordingly, have been excluded from purchases of property and equipment in the accompanying statement of cash flows.
